

ABSTRACT

10 A film laminate permitting the formation of a fine pattern and being excellent in electrical reliability is provided. The film laminate is characterized in that a plasma CVD layer of an organic metal compound and an electrically conductive layer are successively formed on at least one side of a heat-resistant polymer film.